

Alberto Salas is a mining entrepreneur and is currently the Chairman of the Confederation of Production and Commerce (CPC) and President and CEO of the National Mining Society of Chile (Sonami).

He is also: Director of Minera Valle Central, CAP Minería S. A. and Amerigo Resources Ltd. (Vancouver, B.C., Canada); member of the Board of the National Institute of Career Training (INACAP); President of the Business Council of the Pacific Alliance CEAP-Chile; President of the Mining Engineers Institution, University of Chile; Vice President of the Inter-American Mining Society (SIM); and President of the Latin American Mining Organization (Olami-International).

Mr. Salas was formerly a Director on the Board of Teck Quebrada Blanca Mining Company (2003-2015), Teck Carmen de Andacollo Mining Company (2003- 2015) and National Mining Company (ENAMI) (1996-2015).

Mr. Salas was engaged in academic activities at the University of Chile and the Arturo Prat University in Chile. He holds a Mining Civil Engineering degree from the University of Chile and pursued post-graduate studies in Corporate Finance at Adolfo Ibañez University in Chile.