

Malcolm Johns has been the Chief Executive of Christchurch Airport since January 2014. He is a non-executive director of the Lyttleton Sea Port Company, a member of the BusinessNZ Climate Leaders' Coalition, a board member of the Sustainable Business Council of New Zealand, a member of the BusinessNZ Major Companies Group, and has served on the Government's Trade for All Working Group. During his 30-year career, he has held a number of senior executive and governance roles within New Zealand's transport, aviation, and tourism sectors. Mr. Johns has a personal mission of balancing People & Planet & Prosperity, with business as a force for good.