

Moisés R. Kalach is Vice President of Kaltex Group, a leading company with investments in the manufacture of acrylic fiber, yarns and woven fabrics, garments and home textiles, aside from retail business. He is Chairman of Rotopack, a company specialized in pharmaceutical packaging.

He leads the Mexican private sector re-negotiation of NAFTA as well as every other international negotiation of Mexico, through the Strategic Advisory Council of International Negotiations (CCENI) of the CCE. He is member of the Board of the Industrial Chambers Confederation (CONCAMIN) and of the US-Mexico CEO Dialogue.

He chaired the Mexican Business Coalition for the Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP), and is a member of the Mexico-China High Level Committee (GANE) and of the Editorial Board of Group Expansion, the most respected media in Mexico.

From 2012 to 2015, he was President of the National Chamber of Textile Industry (CANAINTEXT), a private organization dedicated to promoting the prosperity of the Mexican textile supply chain in a legal and competitive environment with value added, fashion and innovation.

He holds a Bachelor's Degree in Accounting from the Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México (ITAM), and an MBA from the Instituto Panamericano de Alta Dirección de Empresas (IPADE). He has taken several courses at the Harvard Business School, Harvard School of Family Business, Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University, University of California and Berkeley Haas School of Business.