

Saw Ken Wye is CEO of CrimsonLogic, a company focusing on solutions for cross-border trade (Single Window, Customs Management Systems), eJudiciary and Digital Government. He is responsible for leading the business teams in growing customer relationships and driving sales in regions such as Asia, Middle East, Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean. To date, the company has 19 offices worldwide.

Prior to joining CrimsonLogic in 2013, Mr. Saw worked in Microsoft for nearly 16 years and was the Vice President for Public Sector (Asia), responsible for the company's business with Government and Government organizations across Asia.

Mr. Saw started his IT career with the National Computer Board (NCB) in 1983 and his last appointment was Assistant Chief Executive (Industry). Mr. Saw is actively involved in the local Singapore IT community, and is currently a member of the Info-communications Media Development Authority (IMDA) Board. He is also the Chair of the Advisory Committee for the School of Infocomm Technology in Ngee Ann Polytechnic, and the Chairman of SGTech. He is a member of the Singapore Manufacturing Federation (SMF) Council.