

Philip Dalidakis is the Managing Partner of Orizontas, a Board and CEO advisory firm focused on reputational, climate and political risk and its group of companies.

He served as a Member of the Victorian Parliament from 2014 to 2019 and as the Victorian Minister for Trade and Investment, Innovation and the Digital Economy and Small Business.

As Trade and Investment Minister, he was responsible for trade strategies for China, India, Southeast Asia and also Latin America, implemented a cybersecurity strategy, created the Oceania Cyber Security Centre and auspiced several international MoUs between Victoria, the United Kingdom, United States and Israel with a focus on AI and the protection of cyber infrastructure.

He currently acts as a director on boards including Gelteq, a clinical and science-based company with operations across Australia, China and the United States, the Washington DC based Center for Asia Pacific Strategy and is the Chairman of VOICsa, a not-for-profit charity for victims of child sex abuse.

He has a Master of Commerce from the University of New South Wales, a Bachelor of Arts (Politics & Thai language) and a Bachelor of Business (Management) from Monash University, and is conversant in Greek, Thai and Issan.