

Hafriz Fayadh is a Bruneian business leader and industrial strategist with deep experience across the energy, maritime and infrastructure sectors. He is recognized for driving commercially focused industrial development initiatives and for his leadership in advancing Brunei Darussalam's long-term economic diversification agenda, particularly in shipbuilding, marine services and energy-related industries.

He serves as a Director at the Adinin Group of Companies, one of Brunei's largest private family offices with over 30 companies with operations in South East Asia, Australia, Europe, Central Africa and the Middle East.

In addition to his role in Adinin Group, he serves as a Board Member of Anson International Sdn Bhd, a strategic joint venture between the Government of Brunei Darussalam, through the Ministry of Finance and Economy, and private sector participation. The company is developing Brunei Darussalam's first integrated Marine Maintenance, Decommissioning and Shipbuilding, designed to establish a complete vessel lifecycle services ecosystem. Through his strategic involvement, Anson International is advancing capabilities across new ship construction, marine repair and maintenance, and end-of-life decommissioning. This integrated model positions Brunei Darussalam to capture regional demand in maritime services while building sustainable, high-value industrial capacity. His role reflects a strong focus on developing scalable industrial infrastructure, strengthening local capability development, and enabling long-term value creation through strategic partnerships and sectoral transformation.

Mr. Hafriz's leadership has been recognized through the ASEAN Business Awards 2021 "Young Entrepreneur of the Year", alongside being recognized under the "Priority Integration Sector (Energy)" category, reflecting his contribution to innovation, enterprise development, and regional competitiveness.
